

The Gallery of Art in Giving

Combining the creativity of great artists with the needs of cancer researchers

Winter 2017- In this issue:

- Gallery space in BioMed Realty's new building in Cambridge
- New exhibition in Alexandria's Technology Square
- New Advisory Board members
- IIDA presents award to Art in Giving second consecutive year
- Exhibition at Boston City Hall 12/16 to 1/17
- NEBiolabs honors International Executives with Art in Giving certificates
- Partner gallery in France: Galerie Vendome
- Thank you to clients, donors and partners.

New gallery space at BioMed Realty's 40 Erie Street- Cambridge

Left: Salvatore Zinno next to a painting by CA artist Nicholas Coley.

Below: Entrance to gallery at Café Flour with both logos on windows.

L to R:
David Hacin,
Salvatore Zinno,
Joanne Chang and Eliane Markoff.

Photo courtesy of
Emily Neumann
Hacin + Associates

Art in Giving welcomes two new Advisory Board Members

Equity Office
Property Manager
Patricia Walsh

Artist Julia Blake
(Cont'd page 3)

"I'm so pleased to have been able to combine great art and great food with Art in Giving's rotating exhibit at the new Flour Bakery at BioMed's Sidney Research Campus. The space is beautiful and the art complements the design exceptionally well. Thanks to Flour Bakery, Art in Giving, and Hacin + Associates for making this project such a success." Salvatore Zinno, Director of Development at BioMed Realty and board member.

"Creating the newest Flour Bakery + Café with Joanne Chang and BioMed Realty to help bring a new eatery and social hub to the Cambridgeport neighborhood was a great experience, and working with Art in Giving to provide the warm and vibrant artwork for the space - and for a great cause - really complements the contemporary design, and makes this project a rewarding collaboration." David Hacin, Principal and President of Hacin + Associates.

IIDA presents 2016 award to Art in Giving

“Every once in a while there are connections that just make sense and can accomplish great things. When Art in Giving was honored by the Boston Chapter of IIDA that was one of those times. As a board member and artist for Art in Giving I was thrilled to accept the award at their amazing fashion show gala on October 20th. Speaking to the sold-out crowd of 1500 at the Boston Convention Center about the symbiotic relationship between the two organizations, I hope I was able to convey the value to both groups as well as show our sincere gratitude for the award. The New England Chapter of the International Interior Design Association is a group of the top designers and architects in the Boston area. When they use original art from any of the over 50 talented Art in Giving artists they not only elevate the beauty and meaning of the spaces but they support pediatric cancer research. “Julia Blake

Attending the gala at the Boston Convention Center on October 20th are (L to R): Maggie Parker of Mass Art, Casey Parker, Project Manager at Sanofi/Genzyme and Julie Burros, Chief of Arts and Culture- Mayor’s Office.

“Combining creative artists with the needs of talented cancer researchers is an excellent partnership,” said Julie Burros, Chief of Arts and Culture. “Art in Giving is a great program with a fantastic charitable mission.”

Alexandria's Technology Square has a new exhibition in its lobbies

Lobby at 300 Technology Square, Cambridge

Atrium at 100 and 200 Technology Square

Conference Room at 400 Technology Square

For more information on the exhibition, information on all pieces on exhibit, Please click here

Galerie Vendome: Partner in France
Jacques D. Sciammas

Galerie-Vendôme is Art in Giving’s European partner. Located in Nice, France, the gallery represents artists who paint French scenes with vibrant colors giving homage to the great impressionistic grand masters such as Cezanne, Van Gogh, Vlaminck and Signac. Art in Giving clients, including Microsoft and Sanofi/Genzyme, have purchased works from two of the gallery’s artists, Bernard Carver and Antoine Giroux. In addition to Impressionism, Galerie-Vendome exhibits the works of artists who create works in abstract, cubism, fauvism, classical and modern styles.

Galerie-Vendome invites lovers of art to experience the originality, passion, and emotion of color and light that evokes the senses to better appreciate the subject matter of each artist’s work. Galerie Vendome is honored to be included in a select group of galleries partnering with Art in Giving and is most proud to contribute to childhood cancer research.

Exhibition at City Hall-
 Fifth Floor- 12/12/16- 1/15/17

Two New Board Members (cont’d)

Patricia Walsh is a Property Manager for Equity Office at 100 Summer Street in Boston, Massachusetts. She has been with the company for 22 years and has managed small suburban properties to a transportation center. Presently she is managing 100 Summer Street, a 32 story office tower, which just won the TOBY Award for the over 1 million square foot category. She enjoys hiking, scuba diving and photography.

Inspired by everyday living, Julia Blake tends to use nature’s symbols, vivid colors, high contrast and bold strokes to create aesthetic and meaningful works. Through metaphor she paints what matters to her in personal relationships and personal growth and struggle. Believing that happiness is a choice she often works out compositions that uplift and foster joy.

“I am delighted to welcome Patricia Walsh and Julia Blake to our Advisory Board. Patricia has been a great client and partner to Art in Giving. In addition to giving us gallery space last year at 100 Summer Street, making sure all art in the lobby is from Art in Giving, and buying a mosaic by Audrey Markoff for her home, she takes time to reach out to her contacts to inform them of our gallery. Julia is our artist board member for 2017. She is an amazing artist and has demonstrated her passion and commitment to our cause. Welcome Julia and Patricia.” Eliane Markoff

“This exhibition is an exciting opportunity to support the arts and raise money for childhood cancer at the same time,” said Mayor Walsh. “We have incredibly talented artists in Boston, and it’s wonderful that the proceeds of their work can directly help children suffering from cancer.”

Thank you John Crowley for selecting Boston artists Irwin Thompson and Audrey Markoff for this exhibition.

Lobby at Pfizer- 610 Main Street in Cambridge

Painting selected by Mass Bio Council team for its Annual Golf Tournament

Alexandria's lobby/atrium at 100 and 200 Technology Square in Cambridge.

BioMed Realty's Lindsay Sard and Edward McDonald enjoy the art and food at Café Flour.

Thank you to our clients, donors and partners.

In addition to our Board Members and all volunteers, we thank the following organizations and individuals for making it possible for Art in Giving to achieve what it has:

Aspiriant

Alexandria Real Estate Equities, Inc.

Robert Beal

Belkin Family Lookout Farm

BioMed Realty

Bitsight Technologies

Midge and Tom DeSimone

EMD Serono

Equity Office

Dr. Wendy Fain

Harvard Pilgrim Health Care

International Interior Design Association

Becky and Mark Levin

Mass Bio

New England BioLabs

Pfizer

Raymond James

Sanofi/Genzyme

Sherin and Lodgen

Stantec

Wells Fargo

New England Biolabs CEO James Ellard honors Dr. Thomas Moellenkamp, General Manager, New England Biolabs GmbH with an Art in Giving certificate. The painting that was selected is shown on the left.

To schedule a presentation, purchase art, ask questions, or make a contribution, please contact Eliane Markoff emarkoff@artingiving.org or 617 877 4230.

